

11th International Academic Teacher Training Course for Health Professions From February 10th to 14th 2020 in Munich, Germany

Application Deadline: 15.11.2019

Background

Professionalization of medical education and capacity building for health professions are key factors for a sustainable development of health care systems worldwide.

The International Academic Teacher Training Course for Health Professions (ATTC) in Munich makes use of the excellence in faculty development of the medical faculty of LMU Munich to support the development of globally applicable approaches in medical education. This activity has been carried out by the CIH<sup>LMU</sup> and the Institute for Medical Education and is embedded in a strong network with partner institutions that has existed for over 20 years.

Target Group

The workshop is designed to bring together staff in health professions education who want to improve their skills as an educator, and health educators with responsibility for the medical curriculum.

Teaching Methods

The course aims to initiate an active and participatory learning process by using activating and interactive learning methods and concepts. The development of related competencies (e.g. intercultural and soft skills) are supported by tutored small group discussions, group work, group presentations and expert sessions.

Learning content

In the course, the participants will:

- experience several ways of teaching and learning with cases in large and small classes
- give feedback and receive feedback
- perform curriculum development from learning objectives to assessment methods and teaching and learning activities

Duration/ Certification

- 5 days face-to-face course (40 hours) as well as an online pre-course and transfer phase. Full-time attendance is required.
- Every participant receives a preliminary certificate of attendance after the completion of the on-site-course in Munich. Upon successful completion of the subsequent transfer phase assignment, participants receive the final certificate.
- A successful completion of the training is credited with 3 ECTS points.
