

10th International Academic Teacher Training Course for Health Professions From February 25th to March 1st 2019 in Munich, Germany

Application Deadline: Nov 15th, 2018

Background

Professionalization of medical education and capacity building for health professions are key factors for a sustainable development of health care systems worldwide.

The International Academic Teacher Training Course for Health Professions (ATTC) in Munich makes use of the excellence in faculty development of the medical faculty of LMU Munich to support the development of globally applicable approaches in medical education. This activity has been carried out by the CIH^{LMU} and the Institute for Medical Education and is embedded in a strong network with partner institutions that has existed for over 20 years.

Target Group

The workshop is designed to bring together staff in health professions education who want to improve their skills as an educator, and health educators with responsibility for the medical curriculum.

Teaching Methods

The course aims to initiate an active and participatory learning process by using activating and interactive learning methods and concepts. The development of related competencies (e.g. intercultural and soft skills) are supported by tutored small group discussions, group work, group presentations and expert sessions.

Learning content

In the course, the participants will:

- experience problem-based learning (PBL) as a participant and as a PBL tutor, create a problem (case) for PBL, review other problems (cases) for PBL
- improve their teaching in large and small groups, give feedback and receive feedback
- describe components of curriculum development, formulate learning objectives, create and evaluate written test items

The course is held in English. Fluency in English is absolutely necessary. Video recordings (of 2 to 3 minutes duration) of your self-presentation are used to assess the English language proficiency.

Completion of the pre-course assignments before the arrival is mandatory.

Duration/ Certification

- 5 days face-to-face course (40 hours) as well as an online pre-course and transfer phase. Full-time attendance is required.
- Every participant receives a preliminary certificate of attendance after the completion of the on-site-course in Munich. Upon successful completion of the subsequent transfer-phase assignment, participants receive the final certificate.
- A successful completion of the training is credited with 3 ECTS points.
