

12th International Academic Teacher Training Course for Health Professions From 22nd to 26th of February 2021 ONLINE

Application Deadline: 01 December 2020

Background

Professionalization of medical education and capacity building for health professions are key factors for a sustainable development of health care systems worldwide.

The International Academic Teacher Training Course for Health Professions (ATTC) in Munich makes use of the excellence in faculty development of the medical faculty of LMU Munich to support the development of globally applicable approaches in medical education. This activity has been carried out by the CIH^{LMU} and the Institute for Medical Education and is embedded in a strong network with partner institutions that has existed for over 20 years.

Target Group

The workshop is designed to bring together staff in health professions education who want to improve their skills as an educator, and health educators with responsibility for the medical curriculum.

Teaching Methods

The course aims to initiate an active and participatory learning process by using constructive and interactive learning methods and concepts. The development of related competencies (including intercultural and soft skills) are supported by facilitated small group discussions, group work, independent study, individual and group presentations and expert sessions.
