Make sure to submit all requested information (as listed below) to euglohria@lmu.de in a single PDF Document.

Structure of proposals and word count

The title of the project should clearly reflect the objective of the application. If granted, the project title may be used in communications about activities within the alliance and should therefore be easy to understand also for people that are not familiar with the subject of the application. Each proposal should consist of a maximum of 6 pages (approx. 2000 words; Font: Arial, size 10). Proposals missing any of the formal criteria will be excluded from evaluation. The proposals should be structured in the following way:

- Cover Page: Title of the project (maximum 200 characters, including spaces), name and institution of the primary applicant and co-applicants.

- Page 1: Short description of the project idea in relevance (and explanation of its relevance) to pandemics research, global health, and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), Agenda 2030.

- Page 2: Experience of the applicants relevant to the application.

- Pages 3-6: Project plan: Background, objectives, research methods, description of project activities (workplan), timeline of the project, expected results.

- Annex 1: Budget: Outline and justification of the requested funding.

- Annex 2: CV of the principal applicants (minimum of two partners; maximum 2 pages each).

- Annex 3: Up to five selected publications of relevance for the research application.
